

Media Contact:
Harrison Hartman

T: 303.277.4559
F: 303.277.4779
hhartman@coorstek.com

Product Contact:
John Seubert

T: 310-426-6175
F: 310-322-4753
jseubert@coorstek.com

CoorsTek Names Sealing Devices, Inc. as Master Distributor for Northeast

Distribution agreement to provide enhanced service for customers in region

El Segundo, California, December 13, 2005 – CoorsTek, the largest technical ceramics manufacturer in North America and producers of PTFE-based polymer seals, components, and materials, today announced a distribution agreement with Sealing Devices, Inc. – a large, family-owned sealing components distributor based in Lancaster, New York.

The agreement covers a broad range of CoorsTek polymer sealing products used in a variety of severe-service industries including aerospace, automotive, and telecommunications.

“Sealing Devices is without a doubt the best partner we could have chosen for the Northeast region. They have a loyal customer base and the technology, capacity, and experienced personnel to service them extremely well. We expect this to be a powerful sales channel for our group”, states John Seubert, General Sales Manager, CoorsTek El Segundo Operations.

“CoorsTek sealing products expand our product line significantly and offer products previously unavailable like their MetaPlast™ and PolyGlyde™ seals. We’ve known CoorsTek for some time and appreciate their dedication to quality and manufacturing excellence. In short, we're a great match," stated Terry Galanis, Jr., President and CEO of Sealing Devices, Inc.

More about Sealing Devices...

Established in 1963, Sealing Devices is one of the largest and most successful seal distributors in the northeast U.S. and has have grown substantially over the past few years by investing heavily in customer service and technical support. Their employees enjoy a performance-based profit sharing plan and education benefits. Sealing Devices' customer focus continues to be the primary driver of the company's growth.

More about CoorsTek...

Established in 1910, CoorsTek is a leading provider of engineered seals, components, and advanced material solutions for the automotive, aerospace, telecom, semiconductor equipment, medical, and several other industrial markets. The company owns over two million square feet of manufacturing capacity in 18 facilities worldwide.

For more information on CoorsTek, visit the Company's website at www.coorstek.com.

For high-resolution photos, click on the link below:

<http://www.coorstek.com/resources/CTSD1.jpg>

<http://www.coorstek.com/resources/CTSD2.jpg>

<http://www.coorstek.com/resources/CTSD3.jpg>

###