Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

November 19, 2020 | Distribution: All Global Team Members

Dear Team Members,

As you know, we are seeing the COVID-19 cases increasing around the world, with many countries back under lockdown restrictions. We are not immune to this trend at CoorsTek. We have seen our own employee case rates increase in the past month, despite the protocols and discipline we have been observing for the past eight months. We recognize that everyone is suffering from COVID fatigue. Everyone is tired of having to manage uncertainty every day, tired of continuous disruption to our work and social schedules, tired of not seeing family and friends and of worrying about loved ones who get sick.

We all feel the same sense of frustration, helplessness and sometimes anger about this situation but now is not the time to give in. Stay the course, be mindful and respecting of others, continue to follow our protocols diligently, and come together to support and encourage one another.

We must continue to be mindful and intentional about our actions and stay committed to the protocols we have put in place as the virus continues to surge across the US and Europe. We are proud of the way each of you has risen to the occasion throughout COVID. You have kept our factories running and delivering product, provided seamless service to our customers and most importantly, you have supported one another unconditionally – truly living our values. Thank you for these efforts.

Please take a minute to watch the latest COVID update video with Dr. Jenna and Irma Lockridge as they spend some time talking about progress towards a vaccine, what we can expect in the next few months, and some thoughts about the challenges we are personally facing as we continue to manage through COVID-19.
